Vienna Meet May Be First of a Series

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's meeting with Premier Khrushchev at Vienna next month may be the first of a series of U.S.-Soviet summit level talks extending over the years of the Kennedy administration.

How the relationship between the two men develops will depend much on the impressions they make upon each other in their conference in the Austrian capital, June 3 and 4. But it is already apparent that Kennedy's whole approach to talking with Khrushchev is quite different from that which has prevailed in other U. S. administrations since World War II.

The central element in Kennedy's attitude appears to be a conviction that top level talks with the leader of the Communist bloc are desirable and may be useful in easing East-West tensions provided the atmosphere in which they are held is reasonably favorable to calm discussion of outstanding world issues. Some administration officials now say that such meetings should be regarded as normal and should be considered worthwhile even if they fail to produce spectacular positive results.

'Arkansas Future' Series Is Designed to Take Problems of State to the Residents

By MARY ANITA LASETER
Star Feature Writer

How many Arkansans move away from the state each year and why? What do current economic trends mean in terms of Arkansas jobs and income? What is being done in Arkansas to meet the problems in agriculture and industry? What realistic goals can Arkansas set for future economic growth?

These questions and many others are being studied throughout our state during the month of May by men and women enrolled in "Arkansas Future" discussion groups. Right here in Hempstead County there are 36 such study groups, and over 500 vitally interested people are taking part.

Kits containing four Fact Sheets, "Arkansas Today," "A Changing Arkansas," "A Developing Arkansas," and "Arkansas Future," were obtained at the county extension office. In addition to reading and discussion materials each Fact Sheet contains a special opinion form. After each discussion each member of the group fills out his or her opinion form, registering individual opinions.

Who are those taking part in these studies? Vocational Agriculture classes at Hope and Blewett, the McCaskill RCI, a number of Home Demonstration Clubs, the Hope B & P, Lions, Kiwanis, and Rotary Clubs, and many small groups from four to 12 people in size who are pursuing the study in their own homes.

"The discussion sessions are not designed to reach a group decision on the topics discussed," County Agent Calvin Caldwell stressed. "The sole purpose of the program is strictly educational, providing people with the facts from which they can draw their own conclusions."

Since the best approach to recognizing the assets and liabilities of our state is through education of the people to the facts, the "Arkansas Future" series certainly has merit. It has been said that education is vital to the success of any activity. Perhaps this is true chiefly because education and better understanding are partners in life.

America is a land in which people have always refused to stand still. The creative drive for the better life, or to meet new and larger challenges, is typically American. For that reason those enrolled in the "Arkansas Future" series have taken a close look at present-day facts in order to prepare themselves better for the problems of the near future.

Next week the final study in the series, "Arkansas Future," will undertake to guide those enrolled in looking at the future of our state without the aid of a crystal ball. It is a realistic approach to the opportunities of family, community, county, and state.

What can happen if you, the people, choose to act and make the human and material investments necessary to the growth of our state? The choice remains, as always in a democratic society, with individual citizens. The final decision is up to you.

First Group of Americans Leave Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The first American prisoners repatriated from Fidel Castro's Cuba, including the last U.S. newsmen there, arrived in Miami Friday night — some glad, some fighting mad and some fearfully silent.

Fifty-two Americans were in the group of 101 passengers who arrived aboard a chartered airliner. Also aboard were 46 Cuban refugees.

The Americans included four newsmen, five Catholic priests and three nuns.

There were cheers and applause when many of the repatriates walked from the plane. Some refused to identify themselves, explaining they feared for the safety of relatives still in Cuba or property on the island.

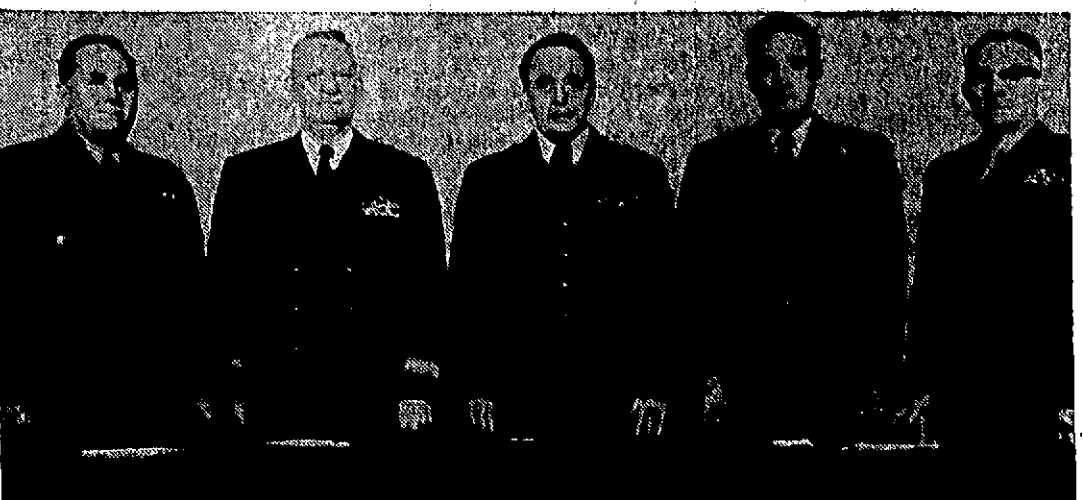

Among those returning were Harold K. Mills, chief of Associated Press Caribbean services, and Robert Berrellez, Associated Press correspondent in Havana; Ruby Hart Phillips, New York Times correspondent, and Martin P. Houseman of United Press International.

Churchmen aboard the plane included Father Lorenzo Spirali, founder of Villanueva University; Father Edward McCarthy, prior of Hufnagel and Father Emilio Castro.

Other repatriates were Grace Diamond, mother of Miami City Commissioner Joseph X. Diamond; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kinsey of Fort Pierce, Fla.; Henry Sanz of Miami and Wellington Swearingen, retired farmer from Mooreland, Ind.

"I came out with a small zipper bag containing all the possessions remaining to me from a three-bedroom apartment in Havana," Mills said.

"Everything, else, clothes, furniture, dishes and prized possessions gathered in more than 20 years as a foreign correspondent were left in the hands of Castro's militiamen."

Storm Claims 12th Victim

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The violent weather of May 6-7 claimed its 12th life Thursday. Army Sgt. Joe Frost, 32, whose wife was killed in a tornado at nearby Midway died in a Little Rock Veterans Hospital.

Frost's wife, 26-year-old Therline, of Manila, died in the twister which struck the home of her brother Wes Sherrill. Their two sons, Danny R. and Michael, 1 were injured but not seriously.

Frost was the fifth person to die from tornadoes. Four were drowned in the Harrison flash flood and three others drowned elsewhere.

Mid-South Hands Out Dividends

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Edgar H. Dixon, head of Middle South Utilities, Inc., said today his holding company would keep opposing threats of government ownership.

He asked for support of customers and stockholders in a report prepared for delivery at the annual meeting of stockholders of the electric holding company here.

The stockholders met in a circus tent at the Cecil S. Lynch Steam Electric Station, cooled by 60 tons of ice.

Officials prepared for an attendance of more than 500 at the meeting and an electrically-cooked luncheon, featuring Arkansas chicken and calish.

Middle South is the parent company of Arkansas Power & Light Co., Louisiana Power & Light Co., Mississippi Power & Light Co. and New Orleans Public Service Co. Its largest stockholders is Harvard University.

"One difficulty with which we are endlessly confronted is the harassment of our industry by disciples of government ownership," Dixon said.

"Their continuous attempts at further encroachment on the electric utility industry by subsidized or tax-favored organizations require our constant attention."

"We feel that our efforts in this regard are of major importance for not only our business but the entire concept of free enterprise is at stake. After all, the electric light and power companies represent just one of the many types of enterprise to which the federalizers can devote their activities."

"We will continue resisting them at every turn and we regard it as a continuing support of our customers and stockholders as the most essential ingredient to our success."

He urged that his listeners let their U.S. senators and representatives know their views on the matter.

Dixon said that Middle South's net income of $25,184,000 in 1960 was a record in the 11 years of company operation and represented a 11.5 per cent increase over 1959.

He said that after giving effect to a 2 for 1 stock split the earnings per share were $1.50, compared with $1.40 the previous year before the issuance and sale of 650,000 additional shares.

Buses, running at 15-minute intervals, carried stockholders the several miles from a Little Rock hotel across the Arkansas River to the meeting site.

In an interview Thursday Dixon said the company expects to spend $20 million in Arkansas this year.

He noted that it "causes a lot of excitement," when a new $1 million plant was announced, "but here our company spends $20 million in Arkansas nearly every year and not much is said about it."

Most of the sum goes for normal expansion, but this year some of it will help finish a big steam generating plant at Helena.

More Than 2,000 Persons in Hempstead Get $100,764 a Year in Social Security

By the end of 1960, more than 2,000 people in Hempstead county were receiving old-age, survivors and disability insurance benefits. The total benefits paid to these people for December 1960 was $100,764.00 according to Otis A. Blackwood, manager of the Texarkana social security district office.

"This is an increase in the number of people receiving benefits by about 9 percent over the same month last year," he said.

Nationally, almost 15 million people were receiving about a billion dollars a month in old-age, survivors, and disability insurance benefits at the close of 1960.

Payments to a retired worker with no dependents receiving benefits averaged $70.00, in December 1960; to a retired couple, both receiving benefits, the average payment was $124.00. The average for an aged widow was about $58.00.

Changes in the law since 1935 have brought more than 9 out of every 10 people in the United States protection by oldage, survivors, and disability insurance—protection paid for by taxes, on employees, their employers, and the self-employed. Earnings will be reported to the social security accounts of more than 75 million workers during 1961.

Hempstead people participate and share in this program along with the rest of the United States. The table below shows the number and monthly amount of each type of benefit being paid in Hempstead county as of December 31, 1960—the date of the latest available figures.

Beneficiary Group	No. of Beneficiaries	Monthly Amt.
Retired Worker	1109	$62,358.00
Disabled Worker	53	4,378.00
Wife or Husband of Retired or Disabled Worker	432	11,885.00
Widow or Widower	184	8,271.00
Dependent Parent	8	421.00
Mother with Child	57	2,676.00
Children of Retired, Deceased or Disabled Worker	295	10,764.00

For the entire State of Arkansas, old-age, survivors, and disability insurance payments at the end of December 1960 were being paid to 160,901 persons at the rate of $9,003,045 per month.

Knife Blade in Chest 30 Years

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—Joseph Fields lived 30 years with a knife blade in his chest. He died last Monday at 52.

Thursday his death was ruled a homicide.

There will be no prosecution, however. Under Michigan law a death occurring more than a year and a day after an assault cannot be legally attributed to the assault.

An X-ray in 1959 showed a broken 3-inch knife blade imbedded in Fields' chest. He said it was a pocket knife blade which broke off in a fight "about 30 years ago."

Doctors decided it was too dangerous to attempt to remove the blade.

Fields had been ill with diabetes and a heart condition before his death. But after an autopsy Dr. Theodore S. Rosen, assistant medical examiner, ruled his death a homicide.

French Railway Workers Return

PARIS (AP)—French railway workers returned to work today after a crippling nationwide strike and immediately set to work manning extra trains for big Pentecost weekend crowds. With hardly a hitch, trains began rolling normally again at noon.

The 36-hour strike for higher pay had stalled almost all rail transport in the country. Coupled with strikes by subway, gas and electric workers, the walkout left French tempers frayed to the breaking point.

Officer Says Military Didn't Approve Plans

EDITOR'S NOTE—What role, if any, the Joint Chiefs of Staff played in planning the ill-starred Cuban invasion is subject of capital speculation and closed sessions by a Senate subcommittee. While the full story has not been aired publicly, a Navy officer told Ben Price, an Associated Press military affairs writer, that he was "sick" of efforts to pin the blame on the military. This angry, unidentified Navy officer presents a defense of the military in the following article.

By BEN PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Navy officer, angered by efforts to blame top military men for the Cuban debacle, said today, "no military man in his right mind would have approved the plans that were carried out."

The officer, who cannot be identified, is well acquainted with the Navy's member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Adm. Arleigh Burke.

In general, the officer's opinion coincided with that reportedly expressed recently by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

What angered the Navy officer into speaking was the statement by Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., that "we directly need a new chairman and members" of the Joint Chiefs.

Gore's comment came after Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs, testified Friday in closed session before the Senate Latin American Affairs subcommittee.

The officer said he was "sick" of efforts to pin the blame for the Cuban fiasco on the military and the full story should be told.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has forbidden members of the Joint Chiefs to defend themselves in public or even to explain publicly the role of the military in the Cuban operation.

Eisenhower, at a meeting with Republican leaders at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm on May 1, reportedly wondered aloud if the Joint Chiefs had been consulted in any detail about the invasion.

He is said to have observed that some of the details of the invasion were inconceivable to him as a military man.

In any case, the Navy officer said, "The Joint Chiefs did not fully staff the Cuban invasion," that is, they did not take part in the detailed planning.

Further, he added, "The Joint Chiefs gave their approval contingent upon the complete accuracy of the information supplied by the Central Intelligence Agency."

"This CIA information, he said, 'predicted a mass uprising in support of the invasion forces.'"

"If this information was incorrect," he continued, "the Joint Chiefs said clearly that the United States would have to support the invasion with sea and air power."

In the end, he reported, "the plans for the invasion were changed and the Joint Chiefs were not advised of the changes. No military man in his right mind would have approved the plans that were carried out."

U. S. Plane Falls in Germany

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—A U.S. Air Force C47 transport plane crashed in flames shortly after taking off today. The pilot and copilot were killed, a spokesman said.

Names of the two dead will not be announced until next of kin are notified.

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — The Rev. James E. Major of Little Rock executive director of the Town and Country Commission of the Little Rock Conference of the Methodist Church, Thursday was appointed vice president and director of development of Hendrix College. In the newly-created post, he will try to strengthen college ties with alumni and the church.

Just a Little Too Proud

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—"Take my picture with the fish," said Edward J. Kamar. Then, apparently to pose, he stepped backward on a partyboat dock, fell into Biscayne Bay and drowned.

Kamar, 52, of Brooklyn, N.Y., had caught a 50-pound dolphin on a excursion which had just ended. "He was really proud of that fish," a boat crewman said.

Cubans Favor Taking up Castro Offer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuban exiles today favored taking up Fidel Castro's offer to free invasion captives for 500 American bullfighters, but they differed on who should do it.

An anti-Castro schoolteachers' organization pledged $800-$1 for each member—Thursday toward buying the bullfighters. It scheduled a Saturday meeting to form a prisoners' exchange committee.

The Revolutionary Schoolteachers' Directorate said, "We accept Fidel Castro's challenge, but it will not be President Kennedy but the people of Cuba who will send the bullfighters."

A Cuban editor in exile had a different reaction.

Sergio Carbo, editor of Prensa Libre, said the United States should take up Castro's offer at once.

"All free citizens of the Americas have faith that Mr. Kennedy will take Castro's offer into consideration without delay," Carbo said.

Cuba holds about 1,000 men, mostly Cuban exiles, captured in the abortive April 17 invasion. Equipment dealers say 500 bullfighters would cost $6 million to $27 million, depending on the model chosen.

Arkansas Business Gets Good Start

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Despite the effects of a recession in some areas, Arkansas business generally boomed to a good start in 1961, the Arkansas Business Bulletin reported today.

A small decline in factory employment was offset by increased employment in businesses other than manufacturing, the Bulletin said. It noted an unusually large rise in construction jobs.

Big Two Can't Settle Their Differences

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The irony in a Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting is that they can't possibly settle their most unselfish difference.

It's that determination of theirs to rot around in each other's front yard.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev can't agree not to since communism is dedicated to gobbling up any place it can. Laos is the most recent example.

And, since President Kennedy is dedicated to stopping any such thing, he can't agree not to stop it.

They still have room for discussing a couple of other major problems, such as a ban on nuclear testing and disarmament.

But, unfortunately for the conversations and world peace, that is ironic too.

1. How, for instance, is the Soviet Union going to agree to ban tests as long as France, the American ally, keeps on developing atomic power and is free to test?

The French haven't shown any willingness not to.

2. And how, for instance, can this country agree not to test if Red China, the Soviet Union's ally, develops atomic power, as it will, and starts testing?

Red China is not only a menace to the United States now but, when it gets atomic weapons, may be even a worse menace to the Soviet Union.

But as of this moment the United States, which doesn't officially recognize Red China, must pretend in international dealings it doesn't exist.

So, while Kennedy and Khrushchev can talk about a lot of things, none will be more important than those mentioned here—and they're not likely to settle any of them.

Already, before the two men get near each other, their meeting is being represented more as a feeling-out process than a meaty discussion.

And, if that's the way it is, Khrushchev will hardly try to demolish Kennedy as he did former President Eisenhower a year ago in Paris after the American U2 flight over the Soviet Union.

But it's going to be Khrushchev and not Kennedy who can afford to be cocky. All the recent setbacks have been on the American side, not on the Soviet Union's.

The Communist overrunning of Laos, for instance. The ridiculous American-backed invasion of Cuba, one of the biggest pieces of nonsense in the 20th Century.

And only this week the South Korean army, much to America's distaste, threw out the American-backed government for being corrupt.

The only saving grace here is that the new military regime says it's anti-Communist. And maybe it is.

But Korea can't stand too much of this instability—only a year ago the population tossed out American-backed President Syngman Rhee for tyranny—without encouraging Communist subversion from within if not attack from without.

And the Kennedy administration, even in the Western Hemisphere, is braced for more Castro and more Cubas.

If Kennedy knows that, then Khrushchev probably knows it better. This puts him in a position to high-hat the President a bit.

And if he does, it won't do American prestige, already badly dented and punctured this past year, any good.

Storm and Strifes

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Most of the time I agree with you but when that girl of 14 asked your advice about wearing pedal pushers your answer was that of a 50-year-old woman in the year 1900. I see girls from six to 60 wearing pedal pushers and find nothing wrong. You say girls aren't built for pedal pushers. Why not?

You say no girl looks her prettiest in pedal pushers. Why not? As a teen-ager of 19 I agree there is a limit. Some girls do over-do it in skin-tight tuxedo pants.

But this 14-year old isn't talking about that. You say if they could see themselves as others see them, girls wouldn't wear pedal pushers to a dog fight. Don't you think they have eyes and can see? Shorts were made to relieve the heat and pedal pushers to get around easier, so what's wrong with that? You sound like you thought the female body something to be covered at all times. Why? I know you won't put this in the newspaper but I'd like to hear from you about this.

—John Meeker, Tacoma, Wash.

Dear Mr. Meeker: My only objection to pedal pushers, levis or tuxedo pants on girls is a purely aesthetic one. I'm all for revealing the "female form," when it's worth revealing.

A pretty, well-groomed girl in properly fitted shorts adds to the beauty of any landscape, and the same goes for bikinis at the beach. But rumpless, ill-fitting pedal pushers or levis on blowsy, untidy, over-weight women wandering around city streets, makes me hang my head for all of the female of the species. And believe me, I'm no prude. I think the missionaries who put Mother Hubbards on the South Sea Islanders should have been made to write, "Evil to him who evil thinks," every hour on the hour for the rest of their natural lives.

Dear Helen: Remember there is a Judgment Day! You say a girl of 18 should be mature enough, if properly reared, to be on her own. Sister and I were past 20 when we really went alone with a man. Our husbands respected us. We had children that are a blessing to all. To many who run wild at 18 with no one to guide or chaperon them, are unable to face their past. We are raising a boy and girl now who are never to know their parents because they were born out of wedlock by 18-year-old mothers. Take care lest others stumble. —Wise Parent

Dear Wise Parent: One should not deal in generalities. It all depends upon the girl. But I still believe that a girl who is properly reared is capable at 18 of paddling her own canoe. You must know in many states a girl legally comes of age at 18 and has the right to marry without her parents' consent.

Dear Helen: The reaction of the civilian wife who signs herself "Nervous Wreck" stuns me. Suppose her husband's tour of duty in the Armed Services does separate them? It's only temporary.

These civilian wives have it soft. We Navy wives don't. Your answer to this cry-baby, "No husband and wife should ever be separated for any length of time," is the under-statement of the year.

I agree with your sentiment but stop and think of all the many Navy wives who have no alternative but to be separated from their men months on end, time and time again. I willingly endure the heartbreaks because I don't want to see my marriage crack up. Get this straight: We wives of Navy men are the real heroines. —Disgusted Navy Wife

Dear Disgusted Navy Wife: You certainly have more reason to gripe than do the girls whose civilian husbands are merely serving the required period with the armed forces. But that doesn't rule out giving poor "Nervous Wreck" a comforting word or two. Remember this was the first time she had been separated from her husband. Being young and loving him as she did, it was hard to take. Given time she would probably develop the Spartan philosophy of a Navy wife. I've known many. They are indeed heroines.

Says Closing of Schools Not Illegal

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Local opinion closing of public schools as an anti-integration measure does not violate the 14th Amendment to the U. S. Constitution, contends Georgia Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook in a brief which arrived at the Arkansas attorney general's office today.

"The privilege of attending a state educational institution is not conferred by national citizenship and as such its abrogation does not offend the 14th Amendment," Cook wrote.

Cook prepared the brief in answer to a request from a three-judge federal court hearing a St. Helena Parish (county) La., integration lawsuit in New Orleans. The court asked attorneys general of the 50 states for opinions on whether school-closing is legal under the 14th Amendment.

Cook is trying to get all southern states to file a joint brief. He mailed copies of his brief to chief legal officers in all southern states. Arkansas, Alabama, Florida and Mississippi already have agreed to go along with him.

Jack Holt Jr., Arkansas' chief assistant attorney general, said Cook's brief would be studied because Atty. Gen. Frank Holt might want to add something. Cook's 20-page brief is full of legal citations to support each of his views.

Local opinion school closing does not deny equal protection of the law, he wrote, because "equal protection relates to equality between persons rather than areas. Complete uniformity will exist within the confines of the governmental subdivision making the choice."

St. Helena Parish residents voted recently to close public schools rather than accept integration. "A state does not, by undertaking through its laws to confer on its citizens new privileges (public schools), thereby enlarge its constitutional obligation under due process so as to become eternally bound to furnish such privileges," Cook wrote.

Cook did not dispute federal court action in overturning an Arkansas school-closing law in 1950. "That was a case of a central state authority (Gov. Orval E. Faubus) closing some schools while letting others remain open," he said.

The Louisiana case is different, he contended, because the closing would be done by the local school board.

"While the Supreme Court has decided that enforced segregation injures Negro students," the brief continued, "it has not been decided that enforced integration may not, in some instances, injure the white race and bring about friction and other undesirable conditions."

The Arkansas Rangers Are Mustering

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Rangers are mustering their forces again—this time to corral cattle rustlers, bootleggers, kidnapers and hi-jackers—but to relieve the old days.

They began in 1935—13 men and a director—with a budget of $59,000 a year and they lasted only two years. But it was long enough to pave the way for the present State Police.

Today the State Police, with 183 troopers alone, operates with a 1961-62 budget of $1,768,000. It has more executives than there were law enforcers 26 years ago as well as 77 office personnel and another 123 in its weights and standards division.

But on May 25 the State Police will stand aside momentarily at the Rangers Reunion at the annual convention of the Arkansas Peace Officers Association here. Two of the 14 rangers (one of the original 13 was replaced) will be there with their director, Gray Albright, who now is assistant weights and standards director. So will John P. Wood, Fort Smith attorney the only survivor of the State Ranger commission.

Four others, still with the State Police, will be there, too. They are Inspector J. Earl Scroggin and Capt. Leon Gershner both of Little Rock; Lt. Doug Morris of the northwest Arkansas division, and Gene Money, foreman of the weights station at Harrison.

Expected to join them are Bob LaFollette, Little Rock insurance man; Lindsey Hatchett, Little Rock gas company executive; Ed Clark, Little Rock roofing company executive; Bert Frazier, Jonesboro police chief; John Hendrix, Fort Smith real estate man, and Earl May, Arkansas County deputy sheriff.

J. P. Hill, Union County deputy, is ill and can't make it.

Albright has not been able to locate J. A. Sewell, an original trooper, and Fred Potts, records clerk.

Rangers Cliff Atkinson and Neal Shannon are dead.

Albright drew $5,600 as director. The average pay for a trooper was $100 a month.

Albright, as sheriff in Jackson County, joined officials of other counties in pushing for a State Police force.

"There was just more crime than we could handle," Albright said. "Cattle rustling, hi-jacking, bootlegging, bank robbing. A lot of the local people were afraid to crack down for fear of retaliation. We needed a state agency."

Repeal of prohibition and the resulting flagrant violation of liquor laws was the lever used to get an appropriation for the Rangers, Albright said.

"That was in the days of Pretty Boy Floyd, Clyde Barrow, Machine Gun Kelly and other notorious criminals," Albright recalled. One spectacular case handled by the Rangers was a raid on the

as an arbitrary exercise of government power for a local community to abolish its public schools rather than suffer the disruptive consequences of compulsory association."

In expanding on this point, Cook said that if there is a constitutional right to free association, there also exists a right not to associate.

Cook said that the threat of school closing does not impose unconstitutional conditions on Negroes.

"To take this view," he wrote, "one would have to assume that a Negro has a constitutional right to attend an integrated school. Such a right does not exist. The only right protected is the right to attend any school the state may maintain on an equal basis."

Hot Springs hideout of the Lamb-Norris gang.

"We learned the gang was in Hot Springs though a contact in Benton, where one of the gang members was courting a girl," Albright said. "Four or five rangers and officers from the sheriff's department staged the raid. (Sonny) Lamb was killed and two others captured."

It was not often, however, that Rangers grouped for a raid. There were only 13 men to cover the entire state and usually one Ranger worked with local officials.

"That was in the days before police radio," Albright said. "Communication was poor. Many times a Ranger had to tackle a case with only his gun and his guts."

But no ranger was killed or seriously hurt in line of duty.

Rustling was a big problem as people sought food in the depression days Albright said.

"We had one big case up in northwest Arkansas," Albright said. "Circuit Judge (now U.S. Rep.) J. W. Trimble called me to his home one night to discuss the problem with other local leaders. We staged a series of raids and 12 to 15 people went to the penitentiary. But that didn't stop people from stealing cows."

The Rangers died in 1937 when the Legislature set up the State Police.

Albright was director of the State Police until he went into business at Newport in 1945. In 1953 he organized the Division of Weights and Standards.

Albright is looking forward to the May 25 reunion.

"We'll have a lot to talk about," he says.

Actors to Wed

LONDON (AP)—The Rev. Richard Roberts indicated today that his actress daughter, Rachel, and actor Rex Harrison may wed.

Harrison—whose last big stage role was Prof. Henry Higgins in "My Fair Lady"—appears to be very fond of Miss Roberts, 30. He's been her constant companion since before last Christmas.

YOU KNOW WHEN A CAR IS AIR CONDITIONED BY A.R.A. Get into a closed car that has been parked in the sun on a hot day. If there is an A.R.A. unit under the dash or in the trunk, cool air begins filling the interior as soon as you turn the unit on. INSTANT COOLING is only one of the advantages you can count on with an A.R.A. unit. QUIET, TROUBLE-FREE OPERATION is another. For a car full of cool air, and cooling performance, you can depend on when you need it—A.R.A. can do better than an A.R.A.

Bridge Repairs to Be Costly

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Temporary repairs to roads and bridges damaged in recent floods will cost $228,000, the state Highway Department estimated today. Maintenance Engineer R.B. Winfrey added that if any bridges must be replaced, the cost could run over $500,000.

Most of the damage occurred in northwest Arkansas during flash floods of May 6-7, Winfrey said. South Arkansas got off with light damage.

A flash flood at Harrison caused $35,000 damage to the Highway Department's area headquarters there, Winfrey said.

Warns People About Squirrels

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Pound-master Dave Knabe warned people to stay away from squirrels after four children were bitten by the animals in separate incidents here recently. Knabe said squirrels can become infected with rabies, he said this is their mating season and during it they sometimes become vicious. The four children may have to take anti-rabies shots.

Objector to ALG Report Absent

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Joint Legislative Audit Committee held up the Land Department's audit report again today because the man who objected to it last month was not present.

Objector to ALG Report Absent

Sen. Fred Stafford of Marked Tree wanted to go ahead and approve the audit, but other committee members felt the objector, Rep. Russell Benton of Fulton County, should be heard.

Objector to ALG Report Absent

Benton's alternate to the committee, Rep. John Miller of Izard County, said he did not know the basis of Benton's objection. Benton made no specific allegations last month.

Objector to ALG Report Absent

When the audit of the Liquefied Petroleum Gas Board revealed the agency has piled up a $172,000 surplus with which it plans to build an office building, Sen. Roy Milum of Harrison suggested the board should cut its fees rather than accumulate a larger surplus.

Objector to ALG Report Absent

The committee approved several routine audits, including a report on the Veterinary Examiners Board which had been carried over from last month.

Sen. Fred Stafford of Marked Tree wanted to go ahead and approve the audit, but other committee members felt the objector, Rep. Russell Benton of Fulton County, should be heard.

Objector to ALG Report Absent

Benton's alternate to the committee, Rep. John Miller of Izard County, said he did not know the basis of Benton's objection. Benton made no specific allegations last month.

Objector to ALG Report Absent

When the audit of the Liquefied Petroleum Gas Board revealed the agency has piled up a $172,000 surplus with which it plans to build an office building, Sen. Roy Milum of Harrison suggested the board should cut its fees rather than accumulate a larger surplus.

POWER that sustains may be found thru regular church attendance

I Believe

"Except ye become as a little child —" Oh, for the faith of that child; your child, my child. FAITH that sees beyond the faults and foibles of men; FAITH that rises above the animosities and hatreds of nations; FAITH that overcomes the cruelties of tyrants and sufferings of war. Oh, ye of little FAITH, know ye not that there's a child in the midst? A child praying for daddy, and mommy and her church. A child believing that the whole round world is bound by chains about the feet of God. This child BELIEVES. She goes to CHURCH, WON'T YOU?
